

« (Christina / 1 shot) »

The University of South Alabama is hosting their second annual Out of the Darkness 5k Walk for Suicide Prevention. For more on the story, here's Lindsey Bullard.

« Take VO Runs.. :0:16 »

People came out early Saturday morning to show their support for suicide awareness and prevention. The event helps the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention fund research, educational programs, and advocate for public policy.

« Take SOT Runs.. 0:05 ..for Suicide Prevention" »

« CG-LowThird_2 Line

Shane Kuhlman

Event Coordinator »

« Take SOT Runs.. 0:14 ..support suicide prevention" »

« CG-LowThird_2 Line

Stephani Granato

Event Staff »

« Take VO Runs.. :0:09 »

A memorial wall was setup for participants to honor loved ones they had lost to suicide. They could write down the names of people they lost and place it on the board.

« Take Nat Sound Runs.. 0:02 (music) »

« Take VO Runs.. :0:06 »

There was also a door where people could write messages of support and kindness for the people who had been affected.

« Take SOT Runs.. 0:14 ..and also nationally" »

« Take VO Runs.. :0:10 »

Last year's walk raised over 5,000 dollars. South hopes future walks can help raise even more donations as well as awareness of suicide.

« Take Nat Sound Runs.. 0:02 (cheering and clapping) »

« Take SOT Runs.. 0:07 ..Lindsey Bullard reporting" »

« CG-Talent/Reporter

Lindsey Bullard

Jag TV »

« (Christina / 1 shot) »

What a wonderful cause to get behind. We'll let you know more about how you can help and future walks.